1. Gun mounts, on which light antiaircraft guns are to be placed, were installed in the Budapest winter harbor during the winter months of 1952-1953. They are described as follows: "Steel swivels are mounted on the after deck of tugs and towed craft. These swivels have a uniform diameter of about 2 m. and are to be fitted with light machine guns for short-range defense." No guns have been mounted on these installations as of December 1952.

2. in various Budapest barracks they are being trained to handle light antiaircraft guns.
